In accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018 which implements the EU’s General Data Protection Regulation (‘the Act’), this Cookie and Privacy Policy sets out how any data that you provide to us or that we collect from you is processed and treated by us. Please ensure that you read the following carefully to ensure that you understand how your personal information will be processed and treated. - b. Your preferences and use of email updates, as recorded by emails that we send you (if you elect to receive email updates on our products and offers).
- c. Your IP Address, a string of numbers unique to your computer that is recorded by our web server when you request any page or component of the Website.

4. How We Use Information

- a. Any information about you as an individual which we collect from the Website will be used in accordance with the Act and other applicable laws.
- b. We may pass selected information to organisations who act as "data processors" on our behalf in order to provide you with our services. These functions include direct marketing, third party review services, administration, customer care, website hosting and the re-organisation/structuring/sale of our business. These third parties have agreed to confidentiality obligations and to use any personal information we share with them or which they collect on our behalf solely for the purposes of providing their service to us. We may also need to use your personal information to comply with a relevant legal or regulatory obligation that we have.

c. We will never share information about you with third parties for their own marketing purposes without your express consent, although when you book with us, you will have the opportunity to consent to receiving communications directly from the owner of the campsite or other services that you are booking via us.

d. When we collect your name, postal and email address as part of our ordering process, we will ask you for your permission to make use of those details for the purposes of staying in touch.

f. Generally speaking, we will not use your information to contact you for marketing purposes unless you have given us your specific consent to do so, but there may be limited occasions where we contact you even though you have not given that consent. That may be because you have contacted us in the past to make an enquiry or enter a competition and we need to use your personal information to contact you for our legitimate interest as a commercial organisation. In such cases, after full consideration of all relevant facts, we have concluded that using your data for the purposes of communicating with you without specific consent is a legitimate purpose, our communication with you is necessary for that purpose and that your individual interests do not override our legitimate interest in using this information.

However, if at any time you would like us to stop communicating with you, you can email us to tell us.

g. Where you have given us specific permission to contact you for these purposes, you can change your mind and ask us not to stay in touch at any time by contacting us.

h. We will take all necessary steps to make sure that the information we hold about you is kept secure at all times against unauthorised or unlawful loss or disclosure. We will retain it only for as long as it is needed for its original purpose or to the extent necessary to comply with our legal obligations, resolve disputes, and enforce our agreements. Any information no longer required will be deleted or disposed of confidentially and completely. We also have appropriate contractual obligations with our 'data processors' to ensure that they comply with the requirements of UK law. However, outside the European Economic Area, controls on data protection may not be as wide as the legal requirements in this country.

b. You also have the right to contact the Information Commissions Office (ICO) if you have any questions about Data Protection. You can contact them using their help line 0303 123 113 or at www.ico.org.uk.

d. You have the right to request additional information about the handling of your personal data and to object to the processing of your data in some circumstances.

e. Where we have asked for consent to process your data, you may withdraw this consent.

f. Please note that we may not be able to provide some of these services if your request requires disproportionate effort on our part and any information that we do hold may already have been destroyed in line with our data retention policy (see below).
